FAQ

This can be done in several ways: 1. Using a lot of necessary knowledge, to save time, and make the work easier 2. Using the tools, available on the net 3. By direct connection to the microcontroller 4. ... Sep 16, 2019 Do I need to upload a password to the terminal for the SMART POU status check to work? No. If there was no password set on the device, the tool will ask the POU to check the password of the device. If the device is locked, the tool will ask the POU to connect to the device and send the password to the terminal. Dec 27, 2018 Was testing the SMART POU and that my stupid question which I asked before: If there was no password set on the device, the tool will ask the POU to check the password of the device. If the device is locked, the tool will ask the POU to connect to the device and send the password to the terminal. the tool does not work, but that I do not ask the POU to check the password. As a result, it turns out that there was no password on the SMART POU, so I can not check the password of the POU A: So, I found the Answer my own self. If there was no password set on the device, the tool will ask the POU to check the password of the device. If the device is locked, the tool will ask the POU to connect to the device and send the password to the terminal. The need to set a password for PLC, is found by the following image. the Device does not work, but that I did not tell the POU to check the password. The answer to my question: If there was no password set on the device, the tool will ask the POU to check the password of the device. If the device is locked, the tool will ask the POU to connect to the device and send the password to the terminal.
